 - a. Who, What, When, Where, Why, How, Contact Person (you or DTASC President) and Phone number
 - b. Have a lead-in to article (something to catch the reader’s attention)
 - c. Proof read for errors and misinformation
2. Call local papers after you are sure they have received release; ask if they would like to come out and cover Festival.
3. Send news release to TV stations c/o news dept.; follow up with phone call right before event.
4. IF REJECTED:
 - a. Be warm and friendly (often, they might not have room or time to cover event)
 - b. Try again next time

Festival day:

1. Coordinate with anyone covering the festival.

Post-Festival:

1. Get cuttings to DTASC historian.
2. Thank those who covered the event. (See Sample Thank You to Media, page C4–5.)

NOTE: A history of DTASC for use in Press Releases is on page C4–6.

Sample News Releases, sample Thank You, and DTASC history are available as Word docs on the DTASC CD, in a folder called Publicity.

The Word docs may also be downloaded from the DTASC web site. They are in the Handbook section as a file labeled PublicityDocs.zip.

Background Information:

The Drama Teacher's Association of Southern California is celebrating its eighty-fourth year as an organization. They have been holding area-wide festivals since their inception. Each year, students from all over the Southern California area gather to compete. The participants come from five counties: San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego, and Ventura.

This year the Shakespeare Festival has a format with three classifications: A—Junior High and Middle School (6th-8th grade); B—Middle School, Jr. High & Sr. High (8th & 9th graders); C— High School Competition (10th-12th graders). Approximately 50 schools and about 800 students enter the Senior High Shakespeare Festival and 700 students from 25 schools enter the Junior Festival.

POSSIBLE STORY LINES

1. Capture the mood with pictures of the costume competition. Students must research and create authentic costumes.
2. Much has been said about the child "caught in the Middle" in Junior High School. Picture the excitement of the students from Hale Middle School (from Woodland Hills) or Stevenson (East L.A.) competing at the Festival. Show that STUDENTS FROM ALL WALKS OF LIFE ARE TURNED ON BY THEATRE EDUCATION.

continued

3. Interview TEACHERS WHO ATTENDED THE FESTIVAL THEMSELVES. Jacqueline Young, drama teacher at Hale Middle School, lost at the festival but raised three children who went on to be winners.

4. Many top name MOVIE OR TV STARS were trained through festival participation —Sally Fields, Richard Dreyfuss, Mare Winningham, Jonathan Light, Kevin Spacey, and Cuba Gooding Jr. are notable examples. Often stars come back to judge or present trophies. Talk to Roger Graziani, DTASC President for a list of celebrities who have participated or judged.

5. Interview individual students and ask them what the drama festival means to them.

6. Or feature winners from your area. First place winners act on the stage at the Festival. A good follow up story is to visit the Winner's Showcase at Paramount Studios on Monday March 18 at 7:00 p.m. Interview the winners and find out what it takes to be a winner. You'll be amazed by the outstanding performances.

BETTER YET — MAKE YOUR OWN STORY — SEND A CELEBRITY TO JUDGE OR HAND OUT TROPHIES.

Subject: D.T.A.S.C. SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL

Birmingham High School will host the Drama Teachers Association of Southern California's Shakespeare Festival on March 7, 1998, 8:00 am-7:30 p.m. Participating Valley high schools are Birmingham, Cleveland, Canoga Park, El Camino Real, Granada Hills, Grant, Monroe, Notre Dame Academy, Van Nuys, and Louisville. Over 1200 students from all over Southern California will compete in the all day festival. We would appreciate your assistance in publicizing the success of the event.

Students compete against one another in eight categories: Costumes, Monologues from Hamlet and Taming of the Shrew, Breeches (all female cast), X-Files (scenes with magical elements), Straight Shakespeare (scenes performed in style of Renaissance theatre), scenes from Hamlet and Taming of the Shrew.

Some famous winners from past DTASC festivals include: Val Kilmer, Sally Field, Cuba Gooding Jr., Mare Winningham, Kevin Spacey and Nicholas Cage.

Thank you for your cooperation and support.

SAMPLE THANK YOU TO MEDIA

March 10, 1998

Dear Daily News Staff,

Thank you for writing such a terrific article on the DTASC Shakespeare Festival, held March 9 at Birmingham High School. The students were so delighted to see their competition get the kind of media attention normally reserved for sports teams. It truly validated their choice to participate in the ARTS!

Thanks!

C.J. Foss & Amanda Swann

Co-hosts of the festival at Birmingham High School

DTASC HISTORY

In 1920, a small group of teachers from area high schools and colleges in Southern California decided to present a Shakespeare Festival. In the years that followed, that small but determined group of educators became a larger and even more determined group. This was the humble beginnings of what is now known as the Drama Teachers Association of Southern California (DTASC); an organization of over one hundred middle school and high school theatre teachers from as far south as San Diego to as far north as San Luis Obispo.

If you're unfamiliar with DTASC, then you're unfamiliar with one of the most prestigious educational theatre organizations in the country. Their mission statement says it best: "It is our mission to create a network where theatre educators and students can effectively communicate ideas, share resources, workshop, and showcase their skills. We believe in creating an environment that fosters the best in educational theatre. Through performance opportunities, diversity and professional adjudication, we support and reward hard work and commitment to the discipline of theatre and education."

The organization, run solely by volunteers, seems to be holding true to that lofty ideal. You be the judge, here is a brief glimpse at some of DTASC's annual endeavors: The organization hosts 4 festivals a year, giving some two thousand students from grades 6 through 12 the opportunity to perform before judges hailing from top universities to the professional theatre. Hosts workshops for both students and teachers. Makes available profit and non-profit opportunities for both students and teachers. Delivers to its members Arts in Education Updates. Frequently and exuberantly recognizes years of service from dedicated educators as well as dedicated community supporters. And finally, offers scholarships to worthy students from within the organization as well as scholarships and grants from outside supporters.

The organization also boasts an impressive list of alumni including Nicholas Cage, Sally Field, Mare Winningham, Kevin Spacey, Val Kilmer, Richard Dreyfuss, Cuba Gooding, Jr., Jason Bateman and America Ferrera.

From 1920 to the Twenty-first century, one has to wonder what that small yet determined group of educators would think some eighty years later. We think they'd be proud.
