

NEW TEACHER'S GUIDE

The following pages will give you an overview of what happens in DTASC and where you can and should be involved.

It includes a list of essential pages from the handbook that you should print and keep available for reference or to make photocopies quickly.

It explains some things about DTASC.

You can always contact a board member with questions about DTASC activities. Most DTASC members are also available to answer questions, give advice, offer suggestions, etc.

Access the DTASC web site for current information, links to maps to help you get to DTASC events, the complete handbook, various forms, sign-up for judges, a page for posting your school's productions (instructions in the general meeting packet), and much more. Use either of these addresses:

PLEASE SET THESE DAYS ASIDE ON YOUR CALENDAR, CONTINUED

Salute 8–15 days after festival
The outstanding performances from the festival are performed once more, for parents and friends. Students receive individual certificates.

Scholarship Auditions 3rd Sat in May
High school seniors perform or present their portfolios. We can always use more judges for this. If you're a high school drama teacher, please check sections F1 and F2 of the handbook to learn how your seniors can apply for either a DTASC or a Mario Lomeli Scholarship. Deadline for applications is May 1st. NEVER send anything to DTASC that requires a signature from the person receiving it.

June Business Meeting 2nd Sat in June
We select categories for next year's festivals, review the year, and make plans for the coming year. On even numbered years, we elect officers and vote on rules changes.

Recognition Luncheon following either June or Sept meeting
A chance to honor those who have been in DTASC for 10, 15, 20, 25, 30 years (or more), and also a good time to socialize.

OTHER THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

Committees

- DTASC has 2 kinds of committees: Standing Committees which run the organization, and Festival Committees which run things at the Festivals.
- Every DTASC member should be on at least one Standing Committee and also on at least one Festival Committee at each Festival.
- At the planning meetings, you will be able to sign up for the Festival Committee of your choice, and you will also meet with your Standing Committee.
- Standing Committees sometimes meet at other times or conduct business by email or conference call.
- Festival Committees sometimes have responsibilities before the festival as well as on the day of the festival. A number of Festival Committees can do all their pre-festival work at the organizational (org) meeting.
- DTASC is an all-volunteer organization; it requires the help of its members to keep functioning.

Rules

- DTASC rules attempt to:
 - » remind us that we are Theatre Educators, first and foremost
 - » create a level playing field for all students
 - » keep performances appropriate to student audiences in middle and high schools
- Rule changes are currently voted on every 2 years. The current rules were approved at the June 2010 business meeting.
- Rule violations at festival should be reported by the drama teacher to someone in Rules (see festival program for location). Please report immediately anything showing overt sexuality, demeaning any race/creed/gender/etc, or endangering students.

DTASC T-Shirts

- DTASC sells t-shirts at festivals. Sometimes they're available at meetings.
- If you and your students pre-order the t-shirts, they're less expensive than if you buy them at festival. You still pick them up at festival. Details for ordering them are in the packet handed out at the planning meeting.

Other things students can do besides perform (could involve students outside drama)

- Design a cover for a festival program (see C3–4); design must be at the org meeting; winning designer receives a plaque
- Design a t-shirt (especially a Shakespeare Festival t-shirt) (see C_–_); winning designer receives a plaque and a free t-shirt
- Write a synopsis of one or both of the featured Shakespeare plays (see C3–5); entries must be at the org meeting; winning synopses are printed in the Shakespeare program; the writers get certificates

NOTE: All submissions become the property of DTASC. Anything that must be at the org meeting can be mailed with your registration packet.

The entire handbook is available on CD at the September meeting and on the DTASC web site all the time. Each section and sub-section is a separate pdf.

The date in the name of the pdf changes when the section is updated. Be sure you have the most recent versions. Check the CD or web site if there is a question, or email a board member.

A “Changes to Handbook” pdf has a detailed list of changes since the handbook was computerized in 2004 and went on CD in 2006. It also has changes by year.
